

Since our trade price adjustment dated July 2020, EzyStrut has been faced with a volatile commodity and international freight market.

Global demand for steel has been steadily increasing, pushing iron ore prices to record heights. The flow-on into milled product is coming through now, with our supply chain issuing consecutive price rise notifications, taking effect over the first quarter of 2021.

International air and container freight has been in high demand since late 2020. Congested ports, empty return sailings and long de-hire periods for empty containers have contributed to significant increases in costs.

As a result of the rising input costs, EzyStrut must apply a 15% increase to our trade price, effective April 1st, 2021.
